

Suncorp Bank

A brighter future

"We are committing to driving towards sustainability and delivering profit with purpose."

—Clive van Horen, CEO, Suncorp Bank

Making bank cards better

Every year, Suncorp Bank issues almost 400,000 new and reissued Visa Debit and eftpos cards. So we're proud to say that from October 2021, these cards are:

- Manufactured from 82% recycled material collected and re-purposed from post-industrial sources.
- Sent in a plastic-free, recyclable and biodegradable envelope.
- Fitted with special features to assist customers living with visual impairments.

"Working for a bank with an ambition to create a brighter future means data plays a big part in understanding our customers, our world and what really matters.

Data and information need to be trustworthy and actionable to have the power to make a difference.

That's why data management is a key, strategic part of the bank."

Beverley Paratchek,
Data Governance at Suncorp

Building a more resilient Australia starts at home

You might have seen our “One House” ad on TV:

Each year homes are destroyed or damaged by extreme weather events like cyclones, floods and bush fires.

Suncorp has worked with experts from James Cook University’s Cyclone Testing Station, CSIRO and Room11 Architects to design and test one of Australia’s most natural disaster-resilient homes.

